Large Limousines

Viewing cost of services for the segment of large limousines one will find differences of virtually 40% in some cases. These expense variances should not be valued superficial because their background usually has more diverse reasons.

For one there are often unequal service intervals. But it is also true that deviations occur based on selected options - e.g. number of internal air cleaner elements differs from one to three among vehicles. Hence in any case differences demand a closer look to identify the optimum. AuDaConCOO perfectly discloses all variances in detail, helping to make the best possible decision.
